

“New and enhanced abilities (a.k.a technology) combined with low level of understanding of those abilities will always lead to abuse. However the universe (a.k.a Mother Nature) does not care, it selects its future, its called natural selection.... And,... natural selection did not end when Darwin defined it, it still happens.... So better try understand what you hold in your hands before is too late. I’m a strong promoter of technology but the need for “profit without limits” combined with ignorance can be lethal for our society.”

I’ve commented not long ago, on the link posted by one of my FaceBook friends. It was liked to the YouTube video called “Look Up”. An excellent clip of video poetry but partially misguided in my opinion.

I hope to guide people on computer technology and its real abilities with the information I will publicize in the future in this blog and <http://timenet-systems.com>

In mean time I’m blogging this video clip for future reference.
